"STOOD-UP" PUPIL'S
FATHER DEMANDS
PRINCIPAL'S HEAD*"Corporeal Punishment" Issue
Is Dodged by Local Board at Corona.

Does standing a pupil in a corner for bad behavior constitute corporeal punishment?

This is the question to be decided by District Superintendent of Schools Dr. Seth Stewart of Corona, L. I., as a result of charges preferred against William T. Cogley, a teacher in Public School No. 16, by the father of Edward F. Cunningham, one of Cogley's pupils.

Corporeal punishment is forbidden in the Corona schools, but Mr. Cogley denies that he has rendered himself liable to discipline under this rule. He holds that standing a boy in a corner for ten minutes is a mild form of punishment, not corporal in the school meant.

The teacher declares that young Cunningham fought in the school house with another boy and deserved all the chastisement of spirit he received. When the matter was placed before the local school board today the board referred the question to the District Superintendent for decision, declining to decide.

Mr. Cogley faces still another charge, being accused by the father of William Bolinger, a pupil, of having struck his son in a scuffle in the school room. Mr. Cogley asserted that young Bolinger defied him in singing class by turning his back and refusing to face the music. Mr. Cogley says all he did was to yank the rebellious pupil around the front.

RAID ILLICIT "STILL"
IN EAST SIDE BASEMENT.*Federal Agents Capture Three Men,
One a Negro, Who Made
Vodka 150 Proof.

Internal Revenue Agent J. W. Sinsel, Deputy Collector Moore and a number of deputies today raided an alleged illicit distillery they found in full blast in the cellar of a double tenement-house at Nos. 312 and 314 Monroe street. Max Cohen, the alleged owner of the moonshine plant, who was found in the place, was arrested with Moses Davidson and Marshall Canon, the latter a negro, who were caught operating the 50-gallon still.

The prisoners when arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields were placed under bail for examination on Tuesday on the charge of violating the Internal Revenue law by running a distillery without a Federal license. The bonds in the cases of Cohen and Davidson were placed at $2,000 and Canon's bail was fixed at $500.

The still and about six hundred gallons of sugar mash were seized. Revenue Agent Sinsel says that Canon is the first colored moonshiner ever captured north of the Mason and Dixon line. The raided distillery made vodka, a Russian drink that Sinsel says contained spirits which registered 150 proof. It was peddled by the moonshiners at the cheap groceries on the lower east side. The still had been running about a month.

Killing Appointed Captain.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 15.—Johnny Kling has been appointed field captain of the Boston Rustlers, and Fred Tenney will hold his post as manager throughout the present season at least. This much is certain, according to President William Hepburn Russell of the Boston team. He said he had no definite plans laid for future action.
